

Distance Learning Program Notes

- All students are admitted into programs depending on placement after evaluation of past college transcripts, degrees, and ministry experience.
- Accepted students become official students of Summit Bible College after completing the down payment for the program for which they have been approved. In other words, students do not pay for individual classes but rather for their program given a payment plan or lump sum.
- You may take 1–5 courses per quarter (12 weeks). However, once a course has begun in a particular quarter, the work must be completed within that quarter to avoid a late fee of $10 per course.
New students that begin late get an additional “grace period” for their first quarter. The grace period is equal to the time the student missed because of late enrollment or an additional full quarter if more than four weeks of the first quarter has elapsed.
- There is a 5% discount for paying the total program cost up front.
- We may credit up to 50% of our program requirements for courses you have taken at other secular or Christian colleges. If you are using courses in your ministry such as a medical tech in the mission field, those courses may also apply. Check with our counselors, and be prepared to send in your transcripts if you need an analysis.
